

Paul Coddling

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF PRODUCT MANAGEMENT

As executive vice president of product management, Paul Coddling leads Cloudera's product management organization. Paul spent the last 10 years in the big data and analytics industry, joining Cloudera in 2020 as vice president of cloud strategy. Before joining Cloudera, he was the product manager for Amazon EMR at Amazon Web Services. Before joining Amazon, Paul spent nearly seven years at Hortonworks, initially joining as a solutions engineering before transitioning into product management. Prior to joining Hortonworks, Paul spent 7 years in security-related technical roles focusing on identity and access management and application security. Paul received a bachelor's of science degree from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.